WHAT'S NEW?

Photograph by Fanny Ariel

These two months for Art by Fanny Ariel have been extremely eye-opening. Since I haven't been taking as many commissions my style of art has been finding its way to me.

One style of art that I have really been gravitating towards is painting. I originally started with "The Three Heads" which was inspired by ancient Yoruban artist. A few paintings later I found myself creating landscape pieces that reflect on the Caribbean Islands and culture. In the coming weeks, I will be adding more of these original paintings to my website.

Our luxury home decor collection was set to launch in June; however, for quality control purposes I decided to hold back until further notice.

This month, we also launched FÁ Apparel and sold out within two weeks! I decided to do a relaunch; however, this time with more shirt designs, hoodies, and SWEATPANTS!!!

More apparel coming soon!

FREE BROWN THERAPY

FOUNDING MOTHERS

About one year ago I collaborated with my long-time friend HoneySoul in order to create a platform to provide free therapeutic resources & information to brown communities. The mission is to inspire a lifestyle that prioritizes our mental health & well-being. Brown Therapy was found on June 11th, 2020.

THERAPY WEEKEND

On June 12-13th we hosted our first-ever online event. We were able to connect with about 8 guest speakers that provided us with information on healing, and self-care. Overall, the event turned out amazing, and also life-changing. The videos of each interview and workshop are available on Instagram.com/freebrowntherapy
